American Law/Legislation Will Not Put a Stop to Human Depravity

When living beings are focused on competing for resources, convenience, and excess instead of evolving intellectually, yet try to present themselves as valuing life – you get this corporate garbage of an existence. People are forced into an existence that everyone knows there is something wrong with(except the religious and patriotic because they think america and their geographical deity are perfect and that deity chose america and america acts on that deity's behalf). The most people do to help strangers is donate money, clothes, food, vote, or pray. This is unacceptable. ↗ complacency is apathy in action

Politicians, corporations, and police depend on your fear. Your fear is their power. Fear everything in your environment from bugs to other humans to things you can't see. Make sure you hop in those death machines to drive to work at a physically, spiritually, and existentially destructive building daily though. You don't care about life or the suffering of others. You care about life to the extent that it doesn't interfere with your comforts, conveniences, and routine.

Voting leads to totalitarian states. Voting leads to authoritarian domination. Voting leads to the worship of some and the dehumanization of others.

if you focus on this instead of doing this

YOU. ARE. THE. PROBLEM.

Time. According to the religious, they have eternity. To rational beings such as myself, to misquote Sam Harris because I am not atheist or religious, '...there is no eternity so we have to make the most of our time here'. To give your time to others is most valuable. Corporations have co-opted kindness. You shouldn't be offered money to help others.
